

Hold Early Armistice
With Britain, Canada

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—President Truman proclaimed to the world today a 12-point foreign policy based on the use of military power to preserve peace while planning to outlaw the atomic bomb.

"Loss of faith in the effectiveness of international organization" is the great threat to peace, he said. "In an atomic age it would be nothing short of disastrous."

The United States regards possession of the atomic bomb, the secret of which is held by herself, Britain and Canada, as a "sacred trust" which "will not be violated," the President said. But he declared the highest hope of the American people is for a state of world co-operation in which "the atomic methods of destruction can be definitely and effectively outlawed."

Deadly Fumes
Fumigation Gas,
Inhaled 8 Hours,
Takes Man's Life

After inhaling the fumes of hydrocyanic acid gas for an estimated eight or nine hours, Charles Brebner, 35, of the rooming house at 920 102A avenue, died shortly after 10 a.m. Saturday, a scant two hours after being admitted unconscious to the hospital.

Mr. Brebner fell victim to gas which more than 24 hours earlier had been used to fumigate the building.

Grandchild of the city police, responding to a call from the house, discovered Brebner in an upstairs room and rushed him to hospital in a Smith's ambulance at 8 a.m. Const. Black told of entering the room to find Brebner partially clad, breathing about weakly on the bed, fainting at the mouth and moaning softly.

FOUND BY TENANT
Brebner's condition was discovered first by a fellow-tenant of the house, Miss Olivia Schiller, who had been coming to see him. She notified the caretaker of the house, Roy Shevill, who attempted to enter the room but found the door locked. He gained admission by crawling in through a window and forcing his way through a window.

Mr. Shevill told The Bulletin he found the air in the room "very bad" and "condensed the window" had been closed on the night of 26.

155 Craft Destroyed
Edmonton Squadron Has Highest
Score of Enemy Planes in RCAF

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—(CP)—The City of Edmonton will kindly take a bow: Its overseas RCAF fighter squadron has knocked off the largest number of enemy aircraft destroyed by Canadian squadrons, not to mention the largest number of flying bombs shot down.

The squadron's record was listed today in an unofficial compilation of the squadron by its official number, 48, said the scores, based on a preliminary assessment of squadron records, were subject to amendment.

Another point of importance connected with the squadron is that it is the only one in the RCAF to have shot down a V-1 flying bomb. The squadron's record was listed today in an unofficial compilation of the squadron by its official number, 48, said the scores, based on a preliminary assessment of squadron records, were subject to amendment.

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—(CP)—Postal regulations adopted by the Canadian government to the United Kingdom and other overseas points, Mr. Bennett said that because of the shortage of shipping space the mailing of complete newspapers or periodicals was prohibited in August 1942. He also announced parcels may be accepted by post offices for shipment to Norway.

20 Railways Offer
Buy Pullman Line

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Twenty railroads representing more than 80 per cent of the sleeping car service in the United States today made an offer to Pullman, Inc., to buy all the capital stock of Pullman Company, the sleeping car service to be disposed of under a court order.

120 Veterans Back
Winner of Military Medal
Reluctant to Tell Exploits

"Oh, it was just a 'stickey do'." That was the laconic way Sgt. H. O. W. "Dusty" Powell, M.M., described the main part in which he won his decoration. However, members of his family who clustered around him in the CCF station on Friday evening furnished other details, reluctantly endorsed by the gallant, modest soldier.

Once had been a passenger on the CCF regular train from Calgary along with nearly 120 other returnees who had crossed the Atlantic on the Ile de France.

The exploit which had earned him his decoration concerned a German Tiger tank, a Panzer and a range of between 20 and 30 feet on the stubbornly fortified St. Pierre Ridge in Italy.

TANK LOST OUT
The tank and its crew came off second best in the encounter, the removing a very active obstacle in the path of 10th Platoon, "B" Company. The Local Edmontonian's report, which the sergeant commanded at the time. The platoon was enabled to carry on with its allotted task and the sergeant was also for his deed, eventually being awarded the medal.

through most of the battle, but was unable to share in the civic welcome accorded to the unit when it arrived here early in the morning.

He was met by his wife and small son Jerry, his brother Norman, who was just being released from the army after nearly five years service, and his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Powell. His home was at 3070 8th street.

FIRST OFF TRAIN

One of the first men to alight from the train was Capt. George Decker, 10088 4th street and right at the door of the car in which he was a passenger was his wife. Three years of absence came to an end at that moment.

The Edmonton dentist had his picture taken with his wife and even his mother-in-law, who had been questioned. Not far behind him was Capt. H. M. Turner, who shouted, "Have you seen my folks?" to friends who were on the platform and who were immediately surrounded by them. His wife and two children and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Turner, 10235 114 street, were there to greet him. "Bob" who had left Edmonton in 1940 in the ranks of the 10th Cavalry Regiment also found himself at a loss for words.

"I haven't the foggiest idea where I'm going to do," he laughed when questioned as to his future plans. The rugged battle he had seen had been in Italy. Tr. H. R. Jewell of Darling said as he greeted the names of the actors he had seen. This Albert tank man wore the shoulder flash of the 8th New Brunswick Hussars, but volunteered no explanation about his assignment. He was associated with a unit so far removed from his prairie home.

WILL LEAVE ARMY

Only plans for the future were to get out of the army as soon as possible, he said, and turned to his brother John, who was with him when he was in his country home when he expressed his wish to get there quickly.

"Here's your lady," Mr. W. Leverington, 12018 8th street, said as he introduced the bride to his three-year-old son. Her husband, who was in the service corps had been away for three and a half years and was the first greeting between father and son, the explained.

"Leverington had been with the 4th Division and with them he had made a tour of northern France, Holland, Belgium and part of Germany. "But it's sure good to be home," he announced happily.

A few of the veterans of The 8th New Edmonton Regiment will go to Canada (Scott's) Burns, who left Edmonton with the regiment as a snapper in the band and who later "doubled" as a brass as a typewriter mechanic in England. Scotty was with the famous "Big Hat" concert party and who has been in the entertainment organization he has travelled nearly all over the continent of Europe. He was met by his wife and two sons of 11 and 18 years.

SAW ENOUGH

"I saw enough" was the terse answer of Cpl. A. R. Donohue, Las. Ann, who had left Edmonton 2 years ago. He was with repair shops not too far behind the line in north-western Europe. His wife and son were anxious to have him to themselves and Cpl. Donohue didn't have much time to relate his experiences.

"Canada is the place for me," Pte. J. Ringler said when he was asked where he intended to go. He had seen there in the Calgary Highlands, in the Pacific campaign, he had little to say about the countries he had seen, though his quoted comment would indicate his preference.

"I was not in the line in here when he said 'Back to work' when asked what he intended to do in the future. He has been away from Edmonton for more than three years and was met by his wife and 10-year-old son at 1030 34th street, his mother and his two sisters.

Impressive Display of Sea Power

America Hails Exploits of Battle Fleets

By The Associated Press

Her ports crowded with warships and decks filled with planes, the United States today celebrated the exploits of the Pacific and Atlantic fleets and gave thanks for the victory they helped to win.

President Truman, reviewing an impressive display of seapower stretching seven miles up the Hudson river, led the nation in his observance of Navy Day.

All along America's coastlines, millions crowded about famous war vessels which proudly in honor after months and years of battle. Spectacular displays of air power were planned, with 1,200 nation by the force of my foreign power.

FOUR PURPOSES

"I set forth four purposes for which the United States must remain powerfully armed. To enforce peace on despotic regimes; to support the United Nations, to defend the western hemisphere, and to give thanks for the victory they helped to win.

The atomic bomb makes the solution of the world's problems more urgent than we could have dreamed six months ago. Mr. Truman said, but "it does not alter the basic foreign policy of the United States."

GIVES 12 PRINCIPLES

That policy he described as one of "friendly partnership with all peoples who are free and who support the United Nations organization." He defined it in these 12 principles:

1. No territorial expansion, no plans for aggression, no objective which need clash with the peaceful aims of any other nation.

2. Eventual return of sovereign rights and self-government to all peoples who have been deprived of them by force.

3. No territorial changes involving friendly peoples except with their freely expressed wishes.

4. No recognition for any government imposed upon a country by a foreign power and prevention of schoolmasterly rule.

5. Freedom of the seas for all countries and equal rights to the navigation of boundary rivers and waterways and of rivers which pass through more than one country.

6. Access of countries on equal terms to the trade and the raw materials of the world.

7. The right of "the sovereign state" to freedom of expression and freedom of religion "throughout the peace-loving areas of the world."

8. Preservation of peace through the United Nations "composed of all the peace-loving nations of the world who are willing jointly to use force if necessary to insure peace."

9. We were somebody all the way across Canada," he said as he described welcome the men had received.

Labor Hall Meeting

Mayoralty Candidates Give Views on Two-Ma Trans

Both Aldermen Harry D. Ainlay and Winslow Hamilton, mayoralty candidates in Edmonton's forthcoming civic election, stressed that service to the public was the major consideration when asked at a Labor Hall meeting of the Civic Employees' Union No. 30 about their reactions to the two-man street car law.

At the introduction of the two-man cars would not mean greater employment opportunities, but it would mean a change in the way the city was run. Hamilton suggested that the reorganization of the city was not what he called "a job," and claimed that efforts should be made to find other employment for veterans without displacing the men of other wars.

However, he favored the two-man cars, only if it could be demonstrated that the system meant better service for the public.

Ontario Police Are Stalemate

By Mystery Foot

ORILLIA, Ont., Oct. 27.—(CP)—Orillia police are still puzzled today about the identity of a human foot—chopped with an axe—found in the city.

A 12-year-old boy according to medical experts and found at a street intersection in central Orillia three weeks ago.

Doctors have examined the foot, preserved in a quart jar at police headquarters, and have concluded that it is the foot of a country boy who went barefoot.

They said it was chopped off with an axe and had not been tampered with.

No person has been reported missing in the district recently.

Junior Chamber Plans Meetings

Three committee meetings are scheduled for members of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce during the coming week.

At 7:30 p.m. the Civic Affairs committee will meet in the Civic Block when R. S. Shepard, superintendent of schools, and C. D. Dewar, city architect will speak briefly.

At 8:30 p.m. Monday, a dinner meeting for new members will be held at the Corona hotel. Attendance by invitation only.

At 8 p.m. Thursday the Agricultural committee will meet in the McLeod building, for an organizational gathering. On Wednesday, Nov. 7, the regular dinner meeting will be held at the MacDonald hotel, attended by wives of members.

Anti-Government Writing on Poster Not Artist's Work

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—(CP)—Anti-government references which mysteriously found their way into a Victory loan poster were traced to the original art work after it had been turned in by the artist, the Globe and Mail said today.

The designer, Sig. Arthur Davidson, employee of a Toronto engraving firm, and twice winner of Victory loan poster competitions, could not be held at all on how the words in question appeared on the poster.

The artist said the words were interpreted as reading: "The government of the Dominion of Canada forces have gone too far to be of any good."

HOUSING CHARGE

That houses built by the city were ready for occupancy for some weeks but were not handed over to the people who were meanwhile living in tents, because they had not been inspected was charged today by Mrs. Julia Kiniski, a candidate for alderman, who also addressed the meeting.

Mrs. Kiniski urged that more assistance be given to old age pensioners and orphaned children, that women were needed on the aldermanic board because of their knowledge and experience in home matters and in welfare work generally, and that she would make these matters her personal concern, and pledged her support for all measures of moment to the community generally.

Edmonton can be made the sort of a city we all wish it to be if the elected representatives of the people do their duty by the community," she said.

Sub-Chasers Are Surplus Corvettes "Out" in Canada's Blueprint of Peacetime Navy

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—The corvette, cocky little Royal Canadian Naval craft that harassed enemy submarines more than any other unit of the Dominion's wartime fleet, will play no part in Canada's peacetime navy, Defence Minister Abbott said yesterday in the Commons.

Corvettes and Fairmiles, used particularly in coastal surface patrol, have been declared surplus by the navy and now are up for sale, Mr. Abbott said during continued debate on his navy department estimates.

The Corvettes and Fairmiles were built for a special job and, as far as the navy was concerned, future plans did not contemplate retaining them. A number of frigates, somewhat larger than the corvette, were being retained for training purposes.

At the night sitting debate on the naval estimates was concluded and it was announced that Monday the Commons will resume discussions on a bill to expand the international and domestic services of Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Study of the naval estimates was resumed shortly after Justice Minister St. Laurent announced that steps have been taken to control the importation to Canada of sovereign firearms by returning them.

George McRae, parliamentarian, announced that Monday the Commons will resume discussions on a bill to expand the international and domestic services of Trans-Canada Air Lines.

The first order said there was reason to suppose that the Commons will resume discussions on a bill to expand the international and domestic services of Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Mr. Abbott said that under conditions of service in the post-war period the terms are not satisfactory and will be relieved of his undertaking to serve until September, 1946.

The conditions of peacetime service will be announced before the Commons will resume discussions on a bill to expand the international and domestic services of Trans-Canada Air Lines.

GORDON A. HARRIS

Rapid Progress In Production Of Peace Goods

"Reconversion from production of war goods to production of the many electrical products required for peacetime living is taking place very rapidly, and consumer goods will be on the market sooner than was expected several weeks ago," says Gordon A. Harris, manager of sales, supply and distribution, Canadian General Electric Co., Limited, who is controlling with local sales staff and the trade throughout Western Canada.

"We can now say that some new electric refrigerators will be produced in the near future, and are likely to be seen immediately in showrooms as the essential needs such as hospital supplies must be taken care of first," Mr. Harris said.

CAPT. JOEL K. SMITH
INSURANCE FIRM EXPANDS STAFF—Capt. Joel K. Smith and Eric H. Smith have joined the staff of Independent Insurance Exchange Ltd., the former after five years service with the Canadian Armored Corps and the latter after four years with the Winnipeg YMCA. G. E. Hober Smith is president and general manager of the company. This expansion of the staff is the company's guarantee that its outstanding record of 27 years insurance service in this city will be maintained and extended during the years ahead. Prior to the war Captain Smith was prominent in affairs of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and since his return he has been prominently identified with the development of the Community Theatre.

Leader "Quits"

Canadian Democratic Party Now Is Defunct

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.—(CP)—British Columbia is minus one political party today.

When W. R. Smith, leader of the democratic party of Canada, found he had been defeated as candidate for Vancouver-Point Grey in the British Columbia elections yesterday, he announced in a newspaper interview that he would return to the house-building business.

Mr. Smith said, commenting on the election results, "My advice to all young men is to be in the south end of the boat and they will grow prosperous."

What about the Coalition victory? "That is in line with the coalition," he replied.

What about the CCF? "I should emigrate," he said.

What about the LPP? "The LPP? What is that? That isn't worth mentioning."

What about the Social Credit party? "My answer to that is too long and too broad."

"From now on," Mr. Smith concluded, "I shall be known as 'Smith, the mystery man.'"

Britain Decides:

Famed Commando Units Are All to be Disbanded

By ROSS MUNRO

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(CP)—With disbanding of the Commandos the most colorful and dashing unit of the British army during the Second Great War will disappear, leaving an enduring record of heroism and daring almost without peer in allied military annals.

The green herit of the Commandos became a mark of valor in operations against enemy-held beaches from Norway to Normandy, from Borneo to Burma. Now the green herit, which the Commandos wore in action in preference to the steel helmet, will be withdrawn.

When Maj. Gen. R. E. (Lucky) Laycock, chief of command operations, told 1,000 Commandos at Hove, Sussex, that they were to be disbanded, it was a blow. There has never been a finer fighting force in the history of the British Empire. To the greatest word in the English language will always be the Commandos.

Gen. Laycock spoke with special feeling for he led the Commandos into battle himself. He led a Commando brigade with distinction in the Sicily landing, protecting the left flank of the 1st Canadian division.

His tribute will find quick response from any British and Canadian fighting man who has seen the Commandos in action.

In 1941 the Canadian Army played with the idea of having its own Commando force and several raiding parties were trained. They later were disbanded when the Army decided to concentrate all of its strength in regular divisional formations.

Voluptuous Charmer Of German Gestapo Held by Americans

FRANKFURT, Oct. 27.—(BUP)—A beautiful Belgian red-haired girl with a photographic memory and a photogenic body landed in an American military jail Friday at the end of a sensational Gestapo spy career that makes her the hottest and most beautiful of the world's sex slaves.

American counter-intelligence agents who tracked 25-year-old Helene Bogaerts half-way across Europe before they caught her, described her as probably the best woman operative in the Nazi secret service.

“She never forgot a face or figure,” said one agent. He described the strawberry blond as Germany’s “most super-sensitive agent,” a girl with an incredible memory and perfect command of four languages—in none of which she apparently ever said “no” to high-ranking Nazis. “She was a real waif,” said a humble dancer in her early days, “and never let a sucker forget Helene started life humbly, sipping hash in a cheap restaurant run by her mother in a Belgian village near Brussels.” She fell in love with a customer who told her the menus were bigger and better in the big cities, and she moved on with him to Brussels. “Sure in the big town, Helene wasted no time promoting herself on the side with a handsome Belgian lad who turned out to be a member of the underground.

By this time, Helene had gone as far as mere brains could take a woman in the Gestapo, so she reverted to femininity. Her nonmental qualifications soon won her high place as the mistress of Hauptmann Wiederroth, chief of the Nazi secret police in Belgium.

His Gestapo "protector" was furious when he found it out and came very close to ordering her shot. That incident closely paralleled the experience of the original Mata Hari. The Dutch dancing girl who worked for the Germans in World War One was said to have saved her life on one occasion by shedding her clothes just as a firing squad was about to execute her.

Helene didn't have to go quite that far. Her charms were obvious and the Gestapo decided against eliminating so valuable an asset.

So she got another chance, and when next heard from Helene was the mistress of Kurt Meyer, Gas-apo chief of Brussels. Meyer later was replaced by the sinister Werner Kleemer, a Nazi specialist in kidnapping. Helene switched jobs and affections with ease.

Atomic Bomb Foreshadowing Fulfillment Bible Prophecies

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(CP)—Unless controlled by an international organization, the atomic bomb is "the handwriting on the wall" foreshadowing fulfillment of biblical prophecies of the end of the world, Most Rev. Dr. Cyril Forster Garbett, Archbishop of York, said today.

"Our statesmen must create some international organization to whose hand the secret and manufacture of these bombs may be entrusted," the archbishop wrote in his November diocesan letter.

The archbishop said the international organization "Must control such overwhelming force that it could retaliate at once on any nation that attempted to decide an issue by a sudden attack on its adversaries."

GIVES FRESH MEANING
 "The Biblical declaration that the end of the world will come suddenly," he said, "is driven home to us with fresh meaning: The heavens shall pass away with a great crash."

Noted Negro Singer On Loan Program

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—The glorious contralto voice of Portia White will be heard singing Malotte's setting of the "Lord's Prayer" on the special Victory Loan broadcast of the Northern Electric Hour, Monday, Oct. 29, at 6.00 p.m., MST, (CFRN) over the Dominion network of the CBC. Miss White will also sing Tschakowsky's "Adieu Foret" from his opera, "Jean d'Arc" and will be accompanied on both occasions by the 40-piece Northern Electric concert orchestra.

To the young Canadian Negro singer, this special broadcast must be a far cry from the time she sang in the choir of her father's Cornwallis Street Church in Hallow, but Portia White's success has been helping to bring her

At 17, she worked as a kindergarten teacher for $35 a month to raise money for her singing lessons. A scholarship from the Halifax Ladies Musical club aided her, and then there was the dazzling moment when she sang at Town Hall, New York, goal of all singers, to thunderous applause from audience and critics alike. This has been followed by triumphs on concert stage and radio in both Canada and the

The broadcast is also highlighted by a dramatic narrative poem from the pen of Fit-LL Donald A. MacMillan, author of the best-seller, "Only the Stars Know".

It was his all—his future—his time to play a part in the world of his own years—It was his life!
But he offered it to the cause he saw was just—
He signed his name to play a part in Victory.
And later, they put it on a cross.

all shall be well with those who survive.

Victory over all our enemies has been attained—

the ROAD AHEAD

By Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

IN ORDER that the people of Alberta, especially those who have sons in the Canadian Army of Occupation, or who are slated for service with the CAOP, may see for themselves just what methods are being used by army authorities to find the men necessary to bring this force up to strength I repeat verbatim a letter I have received from one of the men now overseas:

"In spite of all the army efforts to keep things quiet at home I think some evidence of the general discontent must be appearing in Canadian papers. I can't impress upon you too emphatically how serious this is. As soldiers' representative it is your solemn duty to draw attention to some of the inequalities that have arisen as a result of the stopping of conscription in Canada on May 8 this year while making further military commitments for which no soldiers here have any patriotic sentiments to uphold.

"This is written in the hope that public attention may be focused on those officers from which the inequalities arise in the hope that the people at home may be able to correct those inequalities. The rank and file are not to be blamed as they are as deep and that no officer Continued on Page Twenty-Two

Higher Scale of Retirement Pensions Asked by Teachers

A higher scale of retirement pensions for Alberta teachers is being asked by the Alberta Teachers' Association at the final meeting of their two-day convention Friday afternoon in Ottawa, where school boards are being asked to instruct the provincial executive of the Alberta Teachers' Association to implement the scheme now advocated by the ATA.

The new scheme would entail higher payment from both teachers and government, and dependent upon the length of the retiring teachers' service, would increase the pension to bring it more in line with those of other professions.

ADDRESSER SESSION
T. D. Baker, Edmonton district geographic representative addressed a general session of the elementary, intermediate and high school teachers and outlined the present scheme and the desired changes.

It was pointed out that at the present time Alberta has about the lowest retiring pension for teachers, who receive $30 per month at age 65.

Until the new scheme is accepted by the government, the teachers will continue to press for an increase to $35 per month. Under present agreement the ATA pays half the pension and the government the other half. The teacher organization is willing to raise the pension but to date the government has not approved the higher rate.

Several other speakers addressed the general meeting of the three sections Friday afternoon. J. C. Josselyn, who speaks Icelandic, and who was an intelligence officer with Coastal Command of the RCAF, spoke on "Education in Iceland." He was stationed there and described the country to the teachers.

He said that Iceland has a child-centred system of education. To take advantage of the sunshine, school children vacation from May to October each year, and then attend school six days a week for the rest of the year. Great stress is placed on health with the children receiving free sun-ray and cod liver oil and free

Sqdn.-Ldr. Ronning Leaves For China

Former member of the Alberta Legislature when the UPA government held office, and first leader of the CUP provincial vote, Sqn. Ldr. Charles A. Ronning, RCAF, left Edmonton Saturday morning on the way to Chungking, China, where he will join the staff of the Canadian embassy.

Sqdn. Ldr. Ronning, who was born in China and has a wide knowledge of both the Chinese and Japanese languages, was serving in the air intelligence branch of the RCAF in the Far East during much of the war. He enlisted early in 1940.

He will proceed to his new post in Chungking by way of New York, the Azores, Casablanca, Cairo and London by air transport.

Before the war he was principal of support given to ports by the Canadian people, even to those of established reputation.

Auto Repair Shop Is Opened in City By Former Airmen

Back in civilian life again after more than three years' service in the RCAF, LAC "N. Charnock, 10041 101st avenue, and LAC J. Sekul, 9308 109th avenue, have opened an auto repair, painting and repair shop at 10712 90 street.

Simulating cars and speedometer and taxi meter repairing will be the specialties of the former airmen, both of whom had long experience with automotive work in the air force.

of the Camrose Lutheran school. The family of Sqn. Ldr. Ronning are still residing at Camrose, but plan to join the latter in Chungking later.

Clair B. Roper, M.L.A. provincial leader of the CUP party, was at the CFB station Saturday morning to bid farewell to Sqn. Ldr. Ronning.

Purse Containing $82 Break-In Loot

Approximately $80 in Canadian bills was stolen when a lavatory and dressing room establishment at Wainwright was broken into last Thursday night, RCMP headquarters in Edmonton said Saturday.

Entry was made through a rear door after dark, and a purse owned by a woman employee, Mrs. Mary Whitley, containing the money, was stolen, together with an unknown quantity of cigarettes, police said.

The empty purse was found later, but no other valuables, jewellery or cash were recovered.

At a Fair Rate of Interest

WHEN you pick up your pen and subscribe for a Victory Bond, buy to the limit of your capacity to pay. You will be doing your part to help Canada in the years ahead and for the fulfillment of your future plans. Money is needed to support our men in the army of occupation in Germany and to meet the obligation we allow to those who fought in Europe.

Throughout Canada today tens of thousands of our boys have turned from the grim tasks of war and are anxious to learn useful peacetime vocations.

Many of these boys went overseas before they had finished their education—many were too young to have established themselves. After long years of war it is absolutely essential that they be given a thorough vocational training.

The least we can do is to help these boys accomplish their aim. They have fought long and hard—and it is our duty to see that they are equipped to re-enter civilian life. This makes the 9th Victory Loan doubly important!

Civic Democratic Alliance Names Full Slate Municipal Candidates

The Civic Democratic Alliance, at a meeting Friday night at All Saints' Parish hall, attended by about 75 supporters, completed its slate of candidates for the Nov. 7 municipal election.

Joseph H. Dowler, train dispatcher, was the choice of the meeting as the alliance's second South side candidate. He defeated Mrs. D. Colburn in a straight fight.

At the opening of the meeting, A. St. Allen, chairman of the alliance, announced that the four aldermanic nominees named at the meeting held on Friday night of last week had agreed that the low man on another ballot to be taken would fill the vacancy created on the public school board late because William Fincher had not the necessary property qualifications. All four candidates intimated to the meeting their agreement.

SOUTH SIDE CANDIDATE

The chairman announced also that Mr. R. C. Browne, a South side resident, nominated at the previous meeting, would stand on the aldermanic slate.

On the vote being taken R. L. Hart was at the bottom of the poll and reverted to the public school board slate.

The Alliance slate now is: Ald. Harry D. Ainsley, mayor's candidate; J. B. Gilles, John King, Peter Collins, Mrs. H. J. Browne, and J. H. Dowler, aldermanic candidates; Mrs. L. S. Haynes, J. W. Paterson, both South Side candidates; Robert T. Boudillier, D. Miller and Robert R. L. M. Hart, public school board candidates.

It was announced that a rally would be held in the Elmore Theatre on Friday night next at which all Alliance candidates will speak.

RULE ON MOTION

Chairman Allen ruled out of order a motion that "the voting age for municipal elections be reduced to 18 years" on the ground that it should have been submitted to the nominating committee at which the party's platform was adopted.

Members of the executive admitted that a mistake had been made in not nominating two South Side candidates for the aldermanic board, adding that they had been informed as to the proper qualification of some of the candidates.

Alderman Ainsley, appealing for intercommunal support between new and the election, said that it was useless to nominate a slate of candidates and then fail to support it with the almost effort.

He said that with the unity of purpose that exists within the alliance, that all candidates can be elected if the proper amount of organization work is carried on until election day, and that the vote is brought to the polls on that day.

CAN SWEAR IN

He reminded delegates that this year citizens whose names are not on the voters list can swear in their vote on home furnished by a voter living in the poll.

The alliance has opened cam-

Noted Edmonton Business Man, W. Diamond Dies

William (Boss) Diamond, one of the first Jewish settlers in Alberta and a pioneer Edmonton business man, died Friday evening at his home. He was 53 years old.

He was the patriarch of the Jewish community in Edmonton, and had been active right up until his death, which occurred during a visit with friends Friday evening.

OPENED BUSINESS

He came to Alberta from New York in 1880 and opened the Diamond Clothing Business in Calgary, one of the first established businesses in the west. A number of years later he opened a clothing store in Edmonton, and in 1900 came here to live.

Upon his arrival here he bought a residence at 924 107 street, and lived there right up until his death.

He was very active in all Jewish affairs in this city, and organized and founded the synagogue here.

He was president of the congregation of the synagogue for 25 years, and retired only a few years ago.

HIGHLY RESPECTED

In business circles he was highly respected, and carried on his shop until recent years.

His wife predeceased him in March of this year, and he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. David Grindorf of Toronto. Also surviving are his wife, Mrs. David Grindorf of Toronto. Also surviving are his wife, Mrs. David Grindorf of Toronto.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the funeral home of the Rev. A. Pastore, will officiate and burial will be in the Edmonton Jewish cemetery.

Above is Suzie, an orphaned baby moose, "raised" by two Edmonton prospectors in the Yellowknife mining district. Suzie was only two days old when she lost her mother, Bill Howey and "Shorty" McAvoy of Edmonton took charge of the "baby," feeding her powdered milk from a ketchup bottle for over a month. Orphaned Moose 2 Days Old, Thrives "On the Bottle"

Prospectors Raise Calf on Powdered Milk

A lot of fond mothers might be dubious about raising their babies on powdered milk but a motherless baby moose in the North West Territories went for the dehydrated milk in a big way last summer.

It was 40 miles north of Yellowknife on the banks of the Selkirk river that the successful operation of raising the young calf moose was carried out.

W. "Bill" Howey, former Edmonton garage mechanic and L. W. "Shorty" Nelson are the men who brought the orphaned calf through a critical period in its life on powdered milk fed from a ketchup bottle.

"MUSEMAIDS" STORY

In an interview at the Hoyas George hotel recently Bill Howey told the story of raising the "musemaid" to the last May.

"It was last May and the snow was still on the ground in the north," he recalled.

"We were out on a trail one day and we saw a small calf peeping about in the forest, camping in a tent. We found the calf moose one day while out prospecting. Its mother had been shot. The calf was only two days old. So we took the little girl back to camp and started feeding her. We gave her a baby's bottle at first, but converted an empty ketchup bottle and a worked fine."

"We used to warm the milk before we fed it to the baby. At first we fed it the milk six times each day and even got in the middle of the night when we heard the baby bawling. It was hard on our nerves, but we stuck to it. The little girl got stronger and finally fed the small pen the men had built for her."

"She became so tame she would follow us on the trail in the morning. We called her Suzie and she would answer to her name just like a dog. If we told her to go home she would obediently turn around and head for camp."

"After about a month a full grown moose started paying the calf visits during the night. The calf would then disappear for a day or two at a time and we presumed she had gone away with the older moose, but she always returned."

"After we had her about two months we started worrying about the bears getting her when we were away from camp, so we reluctantly made a gift of Suzie to Jim McAvoy, a mining field engineer."

LOADED ON PLANE

"So we loaded Suzie aboard a plane and she was flown to Yellowknife."

EVEN ATE MOOSE STEW

"We even fed her some moose stew and she really loved it," Howey said.

"The little calf got stronger and finally fed the small pen the men had built for her."

"She became so tame she would follow us on the trail in the morning. We called her Suzie and she would answer to her name just like a dog. If we told her to go home she would obediently turn around and head for camp."

"After about a month a full grown moose started paying the calf visits during the night. The calf would then disappear for a day or two at a time and we presumed she had gone away with the older moose, but she always returned."

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Will a larger vote than usual in previous years be cast in the Nov. 7 municipal election?

THE ANSWERS

HARRY JONES, clerk: There was some slight improvement in the percentage of votes cast in the 1944 election, and I expect to see a further increase on Nov. 7. The campaign being waged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to stimulate interest in voting will have some effect, but there must be some real issue before the electors before there is a return to the 50 and 60 per cent mark.

WILLIAM FRASER, bookkeeper: I expect to see a substantial increase in the number of votes cast. The decline in voting in previous elections in my opinion resulted from a lack of war work. There was no real issue to vote on and the electors did not bother to turn out. Give the electors an issue to vote for or against and you will see a startling upswing in the number of ballots cast.

A. LITWINOW, merchant: There must be some increase in the number of ballots cast in the Nov. 7 election. The interest in the two previous campaigns was certainly at a very low ebb. I look for a substantial increase in the number of votes.

Committees Plan Winter Programs

Busy Week-End of Activities For Members of Edmon-Teens

By ESTHER ESCH

After a two-day holiday from school, due to the city teachers' convention, thousands of high school students were all set for a week-end climax of Edmon-Teen club activities, and after the highly successful dance at the west end branch Friday night, a lot of the members were planning to attend the Saturday night get-togethers at either the South Side or Central branches.

The touch of winter Friday started committees thinking about plans for the coming month, with such things as sleigh rides and skating parties in mind.

This Edmon-Teen youth organization, which plans, organizes and supervises social recreation for its members, is sponsored by the Phoenix club of the Y.M.C.A. Members act only as advisers and the teen-agers set their own rules and regulations for members of the club.

LARGE MEMBERSHIP
The organization, which has a membership approaching 2,000, was started in Edmonton a little more than a year ago, and has done a great deal to provide weekend entertainment for the city's youth in an atmosphere to their own liking.

Each of the three branches of the organization has its own executive and council, which meets once a week to discuss problems and plan the program of club activities. To coordinate the three branches there is a central club made up of representatives from each branch.

Membership in the club is open to members of both sexes between the ages of 15 and 19 and social events usually include games or other recreation for the younger members.

Information from individual groups is as follows:

West Edmon-Teen Club
By BEVERLY GREEN
Friday night a "Witches' Rendezvous" was held in the West-Edmon-Teen club, which was well attended and all expectations were fulfilled.

The decorations were unique, pumpkin, cat and witches were the order of the day for which compliments are paid to Mrs. Green and her hard-working committee.

"SMOOTH" MUSIC
The "smooth" music, aptly supplied by Frank McEwan and his orchestra, soon put everybody in a mellow mood.

All in all the dance was a huge success. Bernie Croisier was the chairman of the committee and deserves a great deal of our appreciation. Our thanks go also to the patrons who kindly devoted their time for our worthy cause.

Central Edmon-Teen
By MIRIAM DOSSON
Rumors have it that a report on last Friday night's dance is due about now so let's go back to Central Edmon-Teen's.

As usual, the dance was in full swing before nine. By ten, it was necessary to open the main gym because of overcrowding, and eleven o'clock found us with hardly enough room to breathe in the gym again. However, no one seemed to mind, because most of the fun is trying to find a partner who is interested in the dance with.

Seems the record player was in a moontide mood 'cause for once the slogan "win the thing" didn't hold its own.

The cake and doughnuts sold out early but no one appeared to be completely starved, and by eleven-thirty everyone was ready and willing to keep his date with the handman.

An announcement was made to the effect that for the next couple of months Central will hold its dances on Saturday nights instead of the usual Friday. That means there will be no dance on Friday at West End-Teens and two on Saturday, one at South Side and the other at Central.

When you're filling up your date book this week, be sure to include the Central dance this coming Saturday night.

By for now.

Specialists Say:

Adolescents Can Rectify Most Skin Difficulties

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Teen-agers have become shiny-face fans and returning soldiers say European girls are now adopting the American well-scrubbed look.

While many adolescents may need a medicated emollient ointment.

LEAVE ON ALL NIGHT
You can use it at bedtime and leave it on all night. If used in the morning, leave it on at least for a few minutes before removing with cleansing tissue.

Ointments such as those used by hospitals, containing oxyquinoline and sulphurated petrolatum, are often advised by skin specialists for young skin.

However, if your skin does not respond to simple common-sense care within a few weeks, put yourself in the hands of a doctor.

Doctors say that though they get only the most stubborn cases they are able to effect a cure in more than 80 per cent of those.

Plan Dance
The Cloverdale sports club is holding a Halloween novelty dance at the Cloverdale hall on Oct. 31. Officials said that returned servicemen have taken a profound interest in the weekly social which is in future will be held on Friday.

FIGHT AND LEARN
MOSHMAN, C.D.—One of the functions of the East Area Community Directorate of Education and Welfare was to assist the local troops in their letter-writing, but, says a recent report, some 10 per cent of them are now literate.

A striking commitment to Army education.

Hi-School Hi-Lights

The Photography Club held another meeting through the week. The club was organized by Clem Clemente, but as yet no officers have been elected.

A night game between Garneau and Vics was played Monday at Vics. The score was 500 for the North Side team. Johnny Clark played a good game from the minute the whistle blew the last play.

In the last quarter, Harvey Gray replaced the ball and was away like a shot, but was brought down by a Vics player just in time to keep Garneau from making a lay.

The new members of the H-Y of Garneau were seen at the South Side Edmon-Teen Club Saturday night made up in a fashion "out of this world". The occasion—their initiation into the H-Y.

A graduation meeting was held on Wednesday and the officers appointed were: President, Mildred Murray, and secretary-treasurer, Ann Burton Walker.

has yet been named. On Tuesday afternoon, Westglen held its first sports day in several years. The event was staged at Clarke Stadium. The varied and numerous tasks set a hard goal for most students. Certainly all Westglen has a vivid memory of how long ago this is. It was one of the most successful functions ever held in Westglen and our hats are off to the organizers, Mr. Hunter and Miss Miller.

Friday Westglen seniors took the spotlight when they beat Scots 23-6. The game was played at Scots with Eric McDonald and Cliff Kerr starting for Westglen. On Monday, Westglen's Juniors lost their second game of the year when Scots beat them 12-0 in a home game.

After the sports day Tuesday, Westglen students went to separate to receive a treat at the home of the organizers, Mr. Hunter and Miss Miller.

VICTORIA
By Peggy Johnson
Last Tuesday was Uncle George's Day, an annual Vic affair held in honor of our favorite Latin teacher, Dr. G. D. Muever. Students spent multi-colored hours—ranging in size from the "showbiz" type to the large economy size with a span of 15 inches. Everyone brought a well-polished apple for "Uncle George," who beamed appreciatively as he ate them.

Vic Juniors walked to a 3-0 victory over Laramie on home ground Monday. The opposing team found it impossible to break into the scoring line and that point fell to the boys. Green, Strick, May, Timinski, Meisner and Johnson.

The two basketball teams' championship was brought home to Victoria for the second successive year by the Victoria team.

Victoria's basketball team, including Aubrey, McMahon, Thomson, Haultain, Lach, Kuchinski, Mundy and Maize, won the championship by defeating University High managed to score the season's only point against the Victoria team.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Woman Pays and Pays
But Man Also Pays

It is a Generally Accepted Theory That in Illicit Love Affairs the Man Goes Free, While the Woman Has to Pay and Pay and Pay

Bulletin
Patterns

By ANNE ADAMS

It is a generally accepted theory that in illicit love affairs the man goes free, while the woman has to pay and pay and pay. It is quite true that the woman does pay the heaviest price, for society shuns its door to her face, while it invites her partner in sin to dinner. Probably all men, philosophers go on the comfortable belief that they can dance without having to pay the piper, but in this they are wrong. There comes a day when they have to settle with life for their fling and they have to pay for the fun they have had with broken health and remorse and lovelessness and loneliness and the contempt of all who know them. And in all the world there is no more foolish creature than the broken-down old man.

MUST PAY PRICE

When we look at the philosopher we can but wonder if he never thinks of the big account he is running up against that day when every man must settle for the debts done in the flesh. Perhaps he has been one of the hand-outs in winning the hearts of young girls. They were at the time of his life, as fresh and innocent and as easily plucked as the birds that sing in the trees. They were powerless to resist his charm, his sophistication, his finished technique in wooing.

He played with them until he was tired of them and then he threw them aside as casually as he would a broken toy. And some of them went to the gutter, and all of them were left to curse him because he had filled their hearts to full of love for a man who never loved any one in it for any other man. Surely there is a special hell awaiting the man who plays with the hearts of young girls.

When a man is unfaithful to his wife, we pity her. But when we consider the price her poor, foolish, philosophizing husband is paying for his infidelity, we might better pity him. For he is throwing away the greatest treasure that a man can ever have—the faithful, loving love of a wife who would stand by him, though all the balance of the world turned against him. He may think that she will love him in spite of the wrong he has done her, but that is a fool's dream. Her love turns to loathing.

The philosopher kills the respect of his children, and the man who never sees pride of their father in his children's eyes has missed the finest thrill life has to give, and he never knows the joy of a peaceful and happy home where he can rest and gather up strength and courage to go on with his battle of life. The loss of the love of a wife, and of the honor of one's children and of a happy home—what a price to pay for a few bought kisses and a sordid, amorous adventure!

The philosopher knows that his under-standing was always his effect upon his women, but he never knew a woman who would stand by him, though all the balance of the world turned against him.

And now the philosopher pays and pays and pays as the woman does. He is left to curse his own foolishness, and he never knows the joy of a peaceful and happy home where he can rest and gather up strength and courage to go on with his battle of life.

Mother: "I can show you I love you in many ways—by reading stories and talking and playing games with you—but while you are a baby, we can tell her we love her only by cuddling her."

Jealousy is minimized when children are helped to understand that love is expressed in different ways at different age-levels.

From the readers of this column I received several thousand letters in the month of October, and in reply to send as helpful a reply as possible. However, in many cases the letters do not contain enough information to let me know definitely what is wrong.

For example, I receive many hundreds of letters stating that kidney trouble has developed. Usually this is a diagnosis which the patient has arrived at by himself, without a doctor's examination. In these cases it is impossible to send any accurate information as there are so many disorders affecting the kidneys that I have no way of telling which disorder has occurred. Furthermore in many instances, what the patient thinks is kidney trouble is really bladder trouble, and it therefore likely that the patient has cystitis or bladder inflammation without knowing it.

I suggest that if you really feel something is wrong with your kidneys, that the best plan is to go to a doctor near you and have him tell you, definitely what is the trouble. If you then wish to send me a report on your case and wish to know more about the disorder from which you are suffering, I will be glad to send you any information possible.

I also advise that you have the liquid waste from the kidney tested. This is an important part of the diagnosis of a kidney or bladder disorder and the fee for this service is usually very small. When you compare the vital information gained through having this test made, with the low cost, you will see that you have spent your money well.

A careful test of the liquid waste tells the doctor many things which help him to consider your case. The urinalysis should be made a routine part of every examination and this type of test is invaluable in suspected kidney and bladder cases.

From the report, the doctor learns whether there is occurring an extravagant waste of nervous tissue as disclosed by the breaking down of certain cells which are thrown out with the liquid waste. The test also shows whether poisons are being absorbed from the intestinal tract, and if this condition is present there will be marked on the report that considerable indigestion was found.

When an excessive amount of albumin is found, this is important and should be checked again later. The report indicates too great a quantity of sugar, the possibility of diabetes should be borne in mind.

The report also indicates whether there is cystitis or nephritis or Bright's Disease.

The symptoms which may accompany kidney and bladder disorders include a burning or stinging sensation, frequent urination of liquid wastes, backache, and perhaps a feeling of fullness or heaviness in the lower part of the abdomen, puffiness under the eyes or swollen ankles. However, no one symptom by itself is conclusive enough to make a diagnosis on its own.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It is a tragedy when a child dies. Unfortunately it may be the mother who fills the child with a sense of her own unimportance and unpopularity. "Didn't Sally invite you to her party?" she asks sharply, leaving the child feeling that she was unlikable or she would have been asked.

Parents belong to certain economic groups, to certain church or club groups and they wish their children to associate with the children of their friends. This is natural but not always possible. However good a friend you had in childhood or have now, you cannot make that friend's children accept yours, or your children like hers.

What may happen is that your child may meet some child outside your regular social groups and they may come together as if they belonged. This may not be the child you would choose for a playmate, but she sends your child and your child suits her. Don't be envious, don't be critical. Friendships are a fragile plant and one cold blast of criticism or disdain may freeze it to death, leaving nothing in its place but loneliness.

Every child has to be reminded that everyone feels that he is unloved and unpopular. That is human nature. We are all striving to be liked and so are everyone else. If your child looks out to find someone person who needs her as a companion, instead of standing aside waiting to be

Sow Flowers This Fall

There are two ways for annuals in the garden quite separate and distinct, one for cutting, the other for figure in the color scheme of garden decoration. Many gardeners make them serve the two purposes at once, but if cut freely for bouquets, naturally, the color effect in the garden is spoiled.

Gardeners have adopted the plan to grow them generally when they have room to do so, of growing some of their plants in rows like vegetables, solely for cutting purposes and use others in the garden scheme. A large number of annuals may just as well be planted this fall as next spring, particularly the cutting varieties.

Centaureas, which have little garden decorative value, are very valuable as cutting material. They will winter safely if they come up from seed this fall. The same is true of annual larkspur, indispensable for cutting. Both had best be sown this fall to get an early start next spring. Other annuals that can be sown now are all the various members of the mignonette family, including snap-

Two Ways to Plant Bulbs Depending on Location

There are two methods commonly followed in planting bulbs.

1—Where bulbs are to be planted among perennials in the border, without disturbing the established plants, a hole the proper depth should be dug for each bulb with a trowel or a dibber. In either case, the hole has a flat (not pointed) bottom so the bulb rests on one side and not on its end. A tablespoonful of balanced plant food thoroughly with the soil before each bulb is planted.

2—Where bulbs are planted in space free of other plants, a bed may be excavated to the maximum depth necessary for your planting. Loosen soil in bottom and level it. Place in desired locations, the bulbs which should be planted deepest. Then start filling in the soil, small or large, requiring shallower planting, may be placed as the soil is filled in to their required depth. Plant food spread over the surface before excavating, at rate of four pounds to a hundred square feet, will be mixed with the soil by the operation.

An impression is often held that bulbs which are planted in the fall do not require plant food. It is true that mature bulbs have stored up food in themselves which may be sufficient to produce a flower. But this is only part of the story.

At the time the flower is being produced a large number of roots are being formed. These roots seek

Alta, Sugar Beets Lead All Dominion

Alberta's sugar beet production, the largest contributor to the Dominion's output, showed an increase of 10,000 tons in 1944 over the year of 1943, according to figures at the provincial department of agriculture. The crop output was 255,000 of the Dominion's all of Canada, or more than half. The national production of sugar beet (total) registered an increase of 54,000 tons.

Against the driving showers in given leaves, straw or stalks of the flower garden will give ample protection. If the seeds can be sown in a seed bed for transplanting in the spring, a wooden curb about the bed to prevent the washing of heavy rains is advisable.

Remember Future Planning Kitchen

With householders all over Canada preparing to get ahead with long delayed renovations and additions to household facilities, one of the first items on most lists is betterment of kitchen facilities.

In any plans an important thing to keep in mind is "How will these plans suit household conditions for the years from now?" For instance, will most of the meals be served in the breakfast room or the dining room? Will there be a new large refrigerator? Will there be a garbage disposal unit or a new table-top washing machine? Will you be using gas or electricity? Will you have a kitchen radio? And most important of all how many persons will the kitchen have to provide service for?

Once these primary problems have been worked out, you will know roughly how much room should be provided for the various units you intend including and will also know how storage space and cabinets you will need. Then you will be able to put the finished plan in a continuous line from the entrance to refrigerator to dining room table, with the kitchen sink

Corregidor Nurses, Officers, Civilians Flown to Safety

Evacuations Are Speeded Up as Final Days Of Epic Stand Begin to Draw Near

This is the seventeenth article of a series by General Jonathan M. Wainwright on the fall of the Philippines. Today he tells about the evacuation of some American nurses, officers and civilians from Corregidor—EDITOR.

By GENERAL JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT

(Copyright 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc. and The Edmonton Bulletin. Retroduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

In the midst of tremendous shelling on April 28—stepped up in honor of Hinhito's birthday, the Jap radio said—I got word that the navy rescue planes had reached Lake Lanao and would fly up to Corregidor that night.

I got in touch immediately with Capt. Kenneth Hoeffel, TSN, the senior naval officer on Corregidor, and with him, chose the water between Corregidor and Fort Hughes, on Cabalo Island, as the most sheltered landing place for the rescue planes.

At dark, Capt. Hoeffel directed the minesweepers Quail and Tanager to sweep the mines from the water strip, and sank and lighted two buoys to guide the approaching aircraft.

Just after dark they came, the messengers from another world which they were. They came in two to make difficult targets of themselves.

Working as fast as possible, we put 50 men and women on the planes. 20 nurses, 10 officers, 10 civilians. I left the choosing of them up to Col. Cooper, my surgeon, and 20 civilians. Among those were a Mrs. Bewley and her daughter, Virginia, two American women. Mrs. Bewley's husband was a Manila doctor who came to remain with his wife and patients rather than desert them when the Japs moved into the city.

NAVY OFFICERS WERE
There was also a naval officer's wife who had remained behind, despite the fact that in previous Spring that all dependents of military personnel must leave. And Mrs. Seal, wife of Brig. Gen. Carl Seal, Mrs. Seal was suffering so badly from malaria that she was moved out the previous May.

Especially asked for by MacArthur was Col. Brewster Wood, a well-trained staff officer who was an expert chief-of-staff for intelligence and who had a fine knowledge of Japanese. MacArthur also asked for, and got, several cryptographers. With them I sent half a dozen officers ranging from brigadier generals to physical colonels who were in no physical condition to take transport.

I had many of them into the little boats that carried them from the Corregidor dock to the rescue planes, and bade each of them goodbye. It was hard on all of us who helped with the loading. We knew instinctively that if the planes got away it would be the last time we would ever see them.

One of the last to get in was Lt. Juanita Redmond, a fine and beautiful girl from South Carolina. She said a new thing since her army around me and kissed me. "Oh, thank you, General," she cried.

WATCHED PLANES LEAVE
We stood there and watched the two planes rise and take off, and prayed that they would not be hit. They were not. They sailed right off the water beautifully, sailed out over the side of Corregidor beyond the range of its anti-aircraft guns, and were enveloped in the night.

Then we turned and walked back to our jobs. I went back to my headquarters in the tunnel and after reporting to MacArthur that the planes had gone away I tried to get some sleep. I had taken over MacArthur's old quarters in the tunnel, as I have said, but added to the natural conception of the place by putting a folding cot in the "living room" for Col. Johnny Pugh, one and then on the fuel oil and gasoline which made the electricity possible.

SEES POWER FAILURE

Gen. Moore estimated about the first of May that we would run out of power on Corregidor by May 28, 1942. We had already lost one of our best men in these departments, a colonel of the Quartermaster Corps who was blown to bits while supervising the repairs to the water system.

Our main power plant at "Not-tremendous" in a valley in the middle of Corregidor—was bombed badly shortly after it arrived. The Rock. It was able thereafter to operate only on a fraction of its original power.

For reserve dynamo we set up a battery-operated diesel for the tunnel lighting, and Beebe unearthened a very small diesel engine which was used as a emergency power unit for the hospital during all rains—which is another way of saying that it was in almost constant use. Even at that we had several flashlight operations when hospital lights were jarred out in the midst of ticklish surgery on our wounded.

We built three emergency wooden water tanks on the side of Manila Hill to take care of the hospital in case of these ticks was destroyed by a shell.

SHELLS RAISE HAVOC

The Japs continued their attack with our communications too. All troop units were connected with either the east or west end of the tunnel, and the Japs were firing at the telephone lines leading to these units and to batteries were as a rule submerged cables. But they had not been sunk far enough in the ground, and were eventually being rooted out and broken by the shells. And we did not have enough equipment to replace the broken strands.

A day after the two navy planes made their getaway with the 30 nurses and 20 assorted officers and civilians, I learned to my sorrow that one of the planes had struck an obstacle of some sort while landing on Mindanao's Lake Lanao. The crew worked feverishly on the ruptured end of the flying boat but could not make proper repairs. Twenty-five persons who thought they were well on their way to liberty were marooned when the plane had to be abandoned.

The second navy plane, unable to take more passengers, flew on to Australia after what must have been a tragic farewell. Passengers and crew of the disabled plane were captured in the fall of Mindanao, and among these were Gen. and Mrs. Seal, Col. Wood, and a number of nurses who deserved a better fate.

SOME EVACUATED

Through the beginning and middle periods of April we were able to evacuate about 100 men by means of a ship Philippine army island planes, especially one flown by an instructor for the rescue named Bill Bradford. The little two-engine plane, the island hopper, was a method of getting to Corregidor and sometimes brought in lightweight medical supplies. Landing on our shore, craters-punctured airfield, especially at night when the runway was lit by lighted by one of our searchlights, was a hazardous and dangerous over-the-water flying and the Corregidor shelling.

Several important air officers escaped by this risky means, as did three war correspondents. I had learned to know well. These were Clark Lee, Dean Schneider and Frank Newell. I shook hands and wished each of them luck before he took off. The chances of their getting through to safety were no better than 50-50.

But by the last week of April these little merry planes stopped coming. The Japs had taken too many of the "stepping stones" the planes needed to reach us.

TO PLAY SAME ROLE

"Not me," I told Schneider. "I've been one of the 'Battling Bastards of Bataan' and I guess I'll play the same role on The Rock."

Hoeffel, who had been an especially close friend, said, "Skipper, I hate to go off and leave you here, but I'll see to it at home that they know what you're doing." He did.

and appearance and it will provide sufficient floor space for another complete 10,000 line unit to supply Telephone Service in the downtown business area of the City for the next 25 years.

Waterworks

The volume of water distributed to consumers is practically identical with that for the same period in 1944. This is in spite of the high demand during the very dry months of May, June and July, and is accounted for by the fact that there was a decrease in volume during the first four months of this year by 77.5 per cent.

In April two new 36" diameter feed mains in Rosedale were completed and brought into service. The construction had been carried on during the previous winter, the purpose being to clear the site for water treatment plant extensions. Approximately 3,200 feet of steel piping was laid at a cost of $78,100.

The building of new homes has required the use of all available manpower and machinery to cope with the construction of sewer and water connections. The numerical increase in connections in 1945 over 1944 which in turn was 55% over 1943. There are at present 390 connections waiting to be made.

Piping and other materials have been more difficult to obtain than during any time of the war period.

Water mains have been extended outside the City Limits to serve the project of the St. Albert Settlement and Veterans' Land Act, in the Martin Estate, South Edmonton.

Some mains and service connections have been constructed in connection with the several sites where temporary housing has been provided by the reconstruction of Dawson Creek House.

One Hundred house service connections have been completed for War-time Housing Loans, and work is already in hand for a second hundred connections.

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE!

"On Teenie Weenie Halloween
Tiny witches can be seen,
Riding on a miller's back
Stiffly as a carpet tack.
Riding with the witch you'll see
The witch's cat, which is a flea."

THE Teenie Weenie Cook sang this little song as he watched the Teenie Weenie doughnuts frying a golden brown in a cat-sop bottle top which was nearly full of sizzling black walnut oil. The Lady of Fashion cut out the tiny cakes as fast as the Cook could fry them, and soon there were two thimbles heaped to the top with golden Teenie Weenie doughnuts.

After the doughnuts had been locked away from the snooping Duncie, the Lady of Fashion and the Cook set to work making sandwiches. The Cook chopped some frizzled frog ham in a hickory nut chopping bowl, and when it was minced very fine he mixed some ground mustard seed with it and added a bit of salt and pepper. While the Cook was chopping the ham, the Lady of Fashion cut three loaves of Teenie Weenie bread into very thin slices. She then spread some spiced fox grape jelly on some of the bread. Next she spread some chopped ham between slices of bread. Then the sandwiches were packed neatly into a basket made out of half an English walnut shell and covered with clean Teenie Weenie dish towels. The Cook set two thimblefuls of apple cider in the cellar to cool. Everything was ready for the Teenie Weenie Halloween party.

The old felt hat which the little people used for a town hall was being painted inside, so the party was to be held in the shoe house. The Duncie and the Sailor had made some acorns into jack-o'-lanterns in which Teenie Weenie candles could be burned, and those were set about for decorations.

The Teenie Weenies had a fine time at their party. They sang songs, told stories and then they all went into the Teenie Weenie dining room, where the tiny table was loaded with all the good things to eat. While they were eating, smoke came pouring out of the living room. Instantly there was great shouting and confusion. The Turk and the Cowboy ran for the Teenie Weenie fire extinguisher. The Duncie and the Cook ran up the front steps with a thimble of water. The little men quickly put out the fire, which was started when one of the spider web window curtains blew into a jack-o'-lantern candle.

Of course, the curtain was burned. A caterpillar fur rug was ruined, and the General's favorite chair was badly scorched. But all that didn't spoil the party, and the little folks had a wonderful time.
